MALDIVES

Nowhere in the world will you find the whiter-than-white, powder-soft sand that you will discover on the coral islands of Maldives.

Whether you arrive by private yacht or by seaplane, spacious villas perch above aquamarine waters. But it is the perfect beaches that lure travelers from the soft comforts into nature.

The tile blend of soft whites awakens a sense of spirituality and contemplation.

COCOS KEELING

---

Australia's last untouched paradise lies in the azure waters of the Indian Ocean, kissed by the sun and caressed by fragrant trade winds.

Only two of the 27 islands are inhabited; the rest await your exploration.

Whisper-soft blues and a hint of gray-green make up this lustrous blend.

KANGAROO ISLAND

Welcome to Australia's Kangaroo Island where landscapes invite you to stop and gaze.

The island may be wild by nature, but anticipate a friendly welcome—sea lions greet you on pristine white beaches; koalas doze in lofty eucalyptus; and pelicans glide over shimmering waterways.

The soaring cliffs, dense forests, golden sand dunes and lush wetlands of the island are discernible in this tile blend.

RAJA AMPAT

Imagine a place where nature is at its most vivid; turquoise and cobalt blue waters shimmer under the light of the morning sun.

The ultimate underwater expedition places visitors face-to-face with marine life as diverse as the Amazon, while rare birds offer lofty theater.

This blend draws out the lush blues and greens of these rain-forest-clad islands, fostering a natural Eden.

SURIN

Rugged and rewarding, Thailand's Surin Islands are an undiscovered, remote escape that draw divers and snorkelers to explore coral reefs and sea creatures.

The national park—an archipelago of five islands—is only accessible by boat.

The tile's color palette is reminiscent of Surin's pristine beaches, clear bays and lush jungles.

CAPPADOCIA

For more than a thousand years, people have made their home in the soft rock of Cappadocia, Turkey.

Erosion may have shaped the incredible landscape, but humans took a cue from Mother Nature and carved complex tunnels into the rock.

The natural-hued blend emulates the dry and rocky plateau of this World Heritage site.

PAMUKKALE

Located in Turkey, this natural wonder is comprised of terraces and travertine formed by streams and hot springs.

The waters are believed to have curative powers and have been used as a thermal bath for centuries.

The tile blends reflect colors of gray stone and icy blue water.

SOCOTRA

---

Situated among three other islands in the Arabian Sea, Socotra is the largest and the most unusual.

A third of the flora found here is native to the island and not found anywhere else on earth.

The Socotra tile blend beguiles with elegant brown-gray hues and greens.

ATACAMA

---

A desert oasis awaits you in Chile's Atacama Desert.

Untouched by modern man, this arid climate offers one-of-a-kind views of nighttime skies, where the galaxy overhead is the main attraction.

The desert's rocky landscape is recreated in tile, showcasing coffee brown, pearlescent whites and blue-grays.

AOGASHIMA

A remote island in the Philippine Sea, Aogashima is an active volcano island accessible only by boat or helicopter.

Home to 200 residents and occasional adventurers, the island is a serene getaway with a sense of danger.

The striking glass blend takes inspiration from sea blues, cool winds and dark volcanic rock.
